

Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, D. D., a noted churchman, died at Irvington, N. Y., Thursday, in the 86th year of his age.

Of the 2332 presidential post offices, only 487 have passed by appointment into the hands of Democrats since Cleveland became President.

At Oakland, Marshall Co., a druggist sold a bottle of morphine for quinine to L. Kelly, who took an overdose, from the effects of which he died Tuesday.

The Caroline Islands have been formally seized by Germany and war between Spain and Germany is imminent. King Alfonso has called a cabinet meeting to consider the strained situation.

Minnesota, which abolished the death penalty for murder in the first degree and substituted life imprisonment seventeen years ago, has passed a law re-establishing the gallows. Maine and Michigan both tried to do without capital punishment also, but went back to the old plan of hanging murderers, some years ago.

Cheng Yin Huan, the new Chinese Minister to this country, will arrive in Washington next February. He is one of the richest and most enlightened men in the Celestial Empire. He will come attended by an immense suite and will live in the most magnificent oriental splendor. His coming is eagerly looked forward to, as he will be a useful man in the diplomatic service.

ATLANTA, Ga., September 5.—A most extraordinary wedding occurred in Pierce county, Ga. Wm. Harell, aged 40, a well-to-do farmer, espoused Sallie Wilson, aged only ten years and a half. The girl's father is ferryman for Maj. Spence, and gave consent to the wedding. The couple went to Macon on a wedding tour and return home to begin house-keeping to-day. All parties concerned are white and are well connected.

The 400 white miners employed at Rock Springs, Wyoming, undertook to clean out the 200 Chinamen working in the same mine and ran them out of their homes and burned every cabin last Wednesday. Fifteen Chinamen, who were under the influence of opium in their cabins, were burned alive and one other was killed during the firing which was intended to frighten them only. The Governor of the Territory was called to the scene of trouble and troops ordered out before order could be restored.

Thos. V. Cooper, of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania, has been caught violating the Civil Service act by soliciting funds from Republicans, clerks in Washington. At the Pension Office alone 125 of his circulars calling for contributions were found. He will be prosecuted. The penalty is a "fine not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding three years." Ah, ha! Got so used to it he couldn't stop it.—Newport Journal.

In using their influence to keep Murphy, the champion offensive partisan of the Republican party of Kentucky, in office, Gov. Knott, Col. Stoddard Johnston and Senator Blackburn have made a blunder that they can hardly satisfactorily explain. We are very sorry that they were led to see this matter in a light so different from that in which decent Democrats everywhere see it. Murphy is a carpet-bagger without principle or decency and no Democrat can espouse his cause without a sacrifice of party loyalty and self-respect. An apology is certainly due the Democratic party from these distinguished leaders of the party.

Has the editor of the Fulton Fultonian sold his birthright for a mess of pottage? The following would indicate that the price of his influence is a couple of subordinate positions within the gift of the Speaker of the House of Representatives: "Mr. Chas. Offutt, Speaker of the House in the last General Assembly of Kentucky was in the city last Monday, the guest of Mr. A. T. Mitchell. The representatives of the Purchase should not forget that it was Mr. Offutt that remembered us in the last session by appointing Tom Corbett and threw his influence towards the election of Willis Ringo. He is the only Speaker that has ever remembered the Purchase, and the newly-elected members should lend their vote and influence toward re-electing him."

From the tone of the press it will be a hazardous experiment for any Western Kentucky member of the next Legislature, with ambition for future preferment to go back on the candidate of Western Kentucky for the Speakership. The Owensboro Inquirer and Henderson Journal have both been led to speak out in meeting by a statement in this paper recently that a certain Democratic Western member would support a Bluegrass candidate. The Journal uses this vigorous language: "The member referred to, whoever he may be, is untrue to his section and certainly cannot represent the best interest of his constituency. A man who allows personal feelings to stand in the way of his duty as a Legislator has no business in the State Council."

THE CHOLERA.

The Flemingsburg Gazette, edited heretofore by C. D. McCartney, Mayor of the town, has been purchased by Henry Pickett, who will edit it. Leonard Gibbon, the editor of the Smithland Bee, was killed in 1844 by Dr. S. C. Snyder for saying that the latter was afflicted with cacoethes scribendi. The Doctor thought the Latin meant something shameful. Kentucky editors use less Latin since.—Commercial.

AN ENGLISHMAN ON INDIA.

Social Condition—Wheat Growing—Manufactures—Shipbuilding.

Admiral W. T. Buxton, of the English navy, was seen by a Tribune reporter at the Victoria Hotel recently. On being asked about India, where he has served for many years, he said:

"India! What shall I tell you about India? It is a prodigious country, with a population of about two hundred and forty million, of which immense number the Valley of the Ganges alone supports ninety million. We have about fifty thousand British troops there, rather less than is required to maintain order in Paris. Then there are about one hundred and eighty thousand native troops, a large part of whom, however, are used for police duty."

"What is the character of the inhabitants?" "That is such a general question that it is difficult to answer. The population is divided into numerous tribes and religions. The people range from a dark skin in color to a shade about as dark as the average Spaniard. I think they are as faithful as can be expected of any conquered people, but they are used to being conquered. From time immemorial they have been ruled by a strong hand; in fact, that is the only way they can be ruled. Do I think that we will stay there? Yes, unless the Russians breed such dissensions and revolutions that we will have to go. It is hard to say who or what will succeed us. The Russians will not; that is certain. The most influential class in India are the Parsies, who originally came from Persia, and are the great merchant princes of the large cities."

"How is the climate?" "Deteriorating to the last degree. An Englishman and his wife settling there will have children, but these latter will either be childless or have at the most one puny child. The Hindus themselves have physically but little endurance, which is not to be wondered at when we consider that their diet consists of rice, vegetables and salt fish. It is a crime for them to eat meat. Their bullocks and cows they use entirely for draft purposes, though when they die of old age or disease the natives will skin them and sell the hides."

"Is the native population satisfied with British rule?" "Yes, I think so, although the home Government gives us too much government. It passes too many laws—the compulsory school attendance, for instance. Why, when a little black boy goes to school he thinks he is going to the devil. We must go slow. If no more laws respecting India were to be enacted for fifty years the country would be better off."

"Do you think that the wheat competition of India will affect this country seriously?"

"I think not, unless some unforeseen circumstance arises. During your civil war great quantities of cotton were raised in India, but at the close of the war that necessarily passed away, and with it the production of cotton fell off to a very large extent. Railroad transportation in India is so extremely dear that it forms a great drawback to the exportation of wheat. There is no reason, however, why manufactures should not flourish. We have or can produce the raw material in abundance on the spot, and from ten to twelve cents a day we have the best help in the world. The hands of the Hindus are twice as supple and delicate as the hands of an American or of an Englishman. Besides, we have a home market. The product of some of the hand looms is so fine and expensive that Europeans can not afford to use it, and it is consumed exclusively by the native princes and country gentlemen. You overlook the fact that there is a large class of the latter living on vast estates, with whole villages tributary to them, men who have never seen an Englishman and who never want to keep up great studs of splendid horses, living, in fact, as rich men of leisure do the world over. In my opinion, unless some extraordinary disturbance arises, India will become a serious competitor to England and to the United States in manufactures. India formerly had a great industry, little known, however, now, that died out with the advent of iron ships—that is, shipbuilding. Formerly some of the finest specimens of naval architecture the world has ever seen were turned out of India. For a long time our Government launched an eighty-gun frigate every three years from the yards at Bombay. These ships were built of teak, the best wood for the purpose in existence. It is so hard that I have seen a large bolt so firmly imbedded in a piece of a ship that had been in the water for forty years that it had to be blown out by gunpowder. If there ever should be a revival of wooden shipbuilding, Bombay, with its millions of inhabitants, will be a place of very great importance."

The Professor.

Of the Company which will open the theatrical season to-morrow night, the St. Louis Republican of Aug 30th, says:

"The Professor" inaugurated the season at Pope's theatre last night. In many respects it was a brilliant opening. Mr. James O. Barrows appeared as the Professor, giving a thoroughly entertaining characterization of the part made famous by Mr. Gillette. His work is intelligent. It harmonizes with the ideal surroundings and indicates a latent power of comedy which seems ready to develop but stops short of its full capacity. Mr. Barrows, in delivery, now and then reminds one of Raymond. He possesses, also, that quaintness of facial expression which is an unwritten volume of humor, and he is quick to appreciate and occupy the peculiar situations which the dramatist has made for him. Mr. Barrows was received last night with enthusiasm, and he kept the audience in continuous good humor. Miss Kate Cheatham as Daisy Brown gained much favorable consideration. "The Professor" is well done by Mr. Barrows and his company, and it will undoubtedly run to "crowded houses" throughout the week. The audience of last night were pleased with the performance and manifested their appreciation in an unstinted manner. "Tickets now on sale at Holland & Rodgers at 75cts. Reserved seats without extra charge."

Dwelling House Burned.

A cottage residence on Liberty St., near Sittes' Hill, was burned Sunday morning about 3 o'clock. The fire was well under headway when discovered and nothing could be done to save the house. The alarm was sounded and the engine was gotten out in time to save Mrs. Bamberger's house adjoining, and only a few feet distant. It seemed for a time that this house would burn also in spite of all efforts, but the engine got to work just in the nick of time.

The fire originated in the cook-room and is another of those mysterious fires, which almost appear to have an incendiary origin. When a colored boy who was in the back room awoke he found the fire raging fiercely and barely had time to get out. The house was occupied by Mr. Henry Witte, who succeeded in getting most of his things out, with the help of his neighbors.

The building was owned by Mr. W. F. Cox, of Bellevue, and it was insured for $700. The loss was probably $800 or $900.

A good crowd turned out, notwithstanding the unseasonable hour.

Mrs. Bamberger's fence and coal house were also torn down while burning, to stop the progress of the flames.

Jno. T. Wright has at his store a shirt 9 feet long, the bosom 3 feet long, the sleeve 5 feet 11 inches, the collar 35 inches round and the bosom 25 inches wide. Mr. Wright offers a reward of $500 to any man who is large enough to fit it.

Mr. Dave Rolston has brought to the city this year 1,125 watermelons, the product of two acres of ground. Many of them were larger than the largest southern melons and taken as a whole his crop was the finest brought to this city.

A flock of sheep, twenty in number, were killed by the train on the I. A. & T. railroad, near the western terminus, one day last week. One undertook to cross the track and the others followed and were killed in rapid succession. We did not learn whose they were.

Messrs. Garrett & Williams are having the front of Henry Block greatly improved by a new coat of paint. The brick work will be painted red and pencilled and the cornice painted stone color. The whole front has been a sort of lead color for several years and the change makes the block look like a new one.

Mr. E. F. Morris shot and killed a suspicious looking dog in the street last Sunday. The animal was in front of the Twyman place on south Main. Its eyes were green and it was frothing at the mouth and scaring everybody in the vicinity. Whether it was mad or not Morris pursued the proper course in ending its career.

Six of the eight new buildings on west Main street have been engaged. Jno. T. Wright will occupy Glass' Corner, Messrs. C. M. Latham and H. B. Garner will occupy their former stands, M. Lipstine will go into the Gooch room, Mrs. Felsenthal into the one adjoining and Frankel & Sons into the corner of the Beard building. This leaves only one of Capt. Beard's and one of the Latham rooms vacant.

Mary Caulshaw, a woman who lives near the southwest corner of the fair grounds, was arraigned in Court Friday on a warrant charging her with keeping a house of ill fame. She was fined $15, but a trial for a new trial was argued Saturday, and a new trial granted and set for next Friday. The case was tried before Judge Brasher, City Attorney Ferguson appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Jas. Breathitt for the defense.

Mr. M. F. Hamsley, of the firm of Geo. E. Cooper & Co., Nashville, Tenn., has just finished putting up the galvanized iron work on Mr. Lucian Jones' handsome new building, which adds much to its general appearance. Nothing helps the looks of a building so much as a galvanized iron finish and no better work of this kind is done anywhere than by the above named firm. This firm has done a good deal of work of this kind in the city and has given entire satisfaction. Those in need of anything in their line will do well to write to them.

Mr. Jas. S. Parrish, on the I. A. & T. R. R., Christian county, Ky., sold his fine farm of some 400 or 500 acres the other day to Mr. John Snadon, Jr., for $50 per acre. Mr. Snadon is quite a young man, recently married, as will be remembered, to Miss Levie Northington, of Keokuk, Ky. The young couple are to be congratulated on starting out with one of the finest farms in all this section of country, level, fertile and beautiful, and handsomely improved. "No doubt that the new R. R. added $10 per acre to the value."—Clarksville Democrat.

HYDROPHOBIA.

Horrible Death of Reuben Bailey.

On April 11th about daybreak Mr. Reuben Bailey, of Todd county, went to his barn to feed his stock. While going around the barn he met a mad dog that attacked him furiously. After several times kicking the dog off and having his thumb bitten through by the dog, Mr. Bailey succeeded in getting him by the hind legs when he beat him against the ground until he thought he was dead. The brute afterwards came to and disappeared.

Mr. Bailey took every precaution against hydrophobia. The wound was cauterized and part of the thumb taken off. Not satisfied he came to this city and got a madstone and had it applied to the wound.

The wound gave Mr. Bailey no further pain until Saturday night, Aug. 29th, while he was sitting in church at Elkton his thumb began to pain him and grew so painful that he left church and went home. On Monday the pain extended up the arm and through the chest and unmistakable signs of hydrophobia began to appear. He found it impossible to swallow and convulsions commenced and grew in violence and frequency.

On Wednesday morning Mr. Bailey realizing his condition made his will and prepared to die. He grew rapidly worse and during his spasms Wednesday night it took six strong men to hold him and they found it necessary to tie him with ropes. Between these spells there were lucid intervals during which the poor man prayed to die. He lived through the day Thursday and expired in the evening in one of his horrible convulsions.

Mr. Bailey was about 35 years old and leaves a wife, but no children. He was attended by Dr. J. A. Young of this city.

Stabbed in a Fracas.

Wm. Hoskins, a young white man from Tennessee, about twenty years of age, was arrested yesterday morning for stabbing a negro, named Harrison Gladish, at the forks of the Cadiz and Princeton roads, near this city, Sunday night about dusk.

Very meagre details of the affair could be learned, indeed there seems not to have been much of a row prior to the stabbing. The parties had been drinking hard cider all day and were getting pretty well intoxicated when a dispute of some sort arose between an Irishman and Gladish. Hoskins, who was with them, did not strike the Irishman, and when he disregarded the warning and assaulted the Irishman, Hoskins sprang at him, stabbed him in the side and ran. The weapon used was a large pocket knife. The wound is not serious, as the intestines were not cut. The wounded man was attended to yesterday by a doctor from this city.

Sheriff Boyd arrested Hoskins at the Wallace Ware farm, near Bellevue, where he has been living lately, and he is now in jail. A pocket knife and a pair of knucks were found on his person.

Mr. Brasher was a member of the firm of Long & Brasher, and was a good and useful citizen.

Circuit Court Convened.

The September term of Circuit Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge Jno. R. Grace, on the bench.

The roll of grand jurors was called and all but two were found present. The vacancies were filled from bystanders. The following was the jury as empaneled:

Ned Turner, col., " "
Jas. Allensworth, col., " "
Bluford Clark, col., Crofton.
Geo. Dabney, col., Bellevue.

The court proceeded to charge the jury at length and concluded by appointing Mr. J. B. Dade, foreman.

In order that none of our readers may be misled, we wish to state that the series of sketches of "self-made men" are entirely fictitious and designed only as a bit of pleasantry at the expense of gentlemen who know how to take a joke. They are intended to be perfectly harmless in their nature, and none but those who are the editor's personal friends are written up. The portraits are "drawn by lot" from a supply of second-hand cuts we have on hand, and are not drawn by a special artist, as some may suppose.

W. T. Jones, a Nicholasville merchant, went to Lexington and thrashed F. A. Flannely, editor of the Evening News, for publishing a scandalous statement against his father, Thomas Jones, a wealthy citizen of Jessamine county.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Deaf John Lacy run over by a Train.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

An old man named John Lacy, who lived two or three miles from Kelly Station, was run over and killed at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, at the Chalybeate Spring, four miles north of the city. He was walking on the track and failed to hear the warning, as he was a deaf mute. He was knocked off by the cow-catcher and was dead when the train was stopped and the conductor picked him up. One leg was broken, the left hand and wrist mashed and the head and face bruised up badly. The body was brought to this city and Coroner Beverly Kelly held an inquest at 10:30 o'clock.

THE INQUEST.

A jury was empaneled and J. J. Hearn testified as follows: "The dead man is deaf, John Lacy, of Christian county, who was born deaf and dumb. He was killed by a freight train going south. I was on top of the caboose and saw deceased on the track near Chalybeate Spring, about four miles north of the city. He was the distance from one telegraph pole to another when I first saw him. The whistle sounded. The train was bearing down grade just below a curve. All the brakemen set up brakes and all that was possible was done to stop the train."

The jury thereupon returned the following verdict: "We, of the jury, find that the body before us is that of John Lacy, a deaf mute. We find that he was killed this morning, Sept. 7th, 1885, at 8:05 o'clock, by being run over by a south-bound freight train, four miles north of Hopkinsville. We further find that it was an accident and no one was to blame for it."

F. Cox, John Tally, Frank Wright, Tom Fruit, H. Gladish, A. J. Hord." Deceased was about 50 years old and was a man of family. His remains were returned to Kelly and delivered to his friends for interment.

(Communicated.) Circle Meeting.

Circle No. 7, composed of eight Baptist churches, met with Mt. Zion church, Kelly's Station, on last Saturday and Sunday, Prof. J. W. Rust presiding, with Rev. J. F. Dagg, Sec., and Mr. Wash Davis Treasurer. The object of the circle is decidedly missionary and during the meetings the whole range of Baptist enterprises was considered. Revs. J. N. Prestidge and J. T. Barrow made able addresses on Saturday on State Missions. Mr. J. O. Rust and Mr. W. L. Trice took prominent parts in the discussion, the latter in regard to the Sunday School work. On Sunday morning Rev. J. F. Dagg conducted the devotional exercises and closed in the evening with an address on Foreign Missions. Prof. A. F. Williams spoke at eleven o'clock. His address was elaborate and eloquent and for an hour and a half held the vast audience spellbound. The members of the church and neighborhood entertained the Circle elegantly with ample provisions on the ground and a cordial welcome to their homes. The next circle is to meet in Hopkinsville the last Saturday and Sunday in November. Pastor Dorris did much to add to the interest of the meeting. These gatherings of the churches and pastors every fifth Sunday bring all the church missions home to the members and are well calculated to awaken new zeal.
